

A pig called mop-mop

There was once a little pig called Mop-mop. Mop-mop was a black and white pig with a cute pink nose. Mop-mop had no mother. One day she went to live with a family in a house. Mop-mop loved living in the house and playing with the dogs and cats that lived there. She love her bottles of milk and later discovered dog food was good to. As she got bigger she went swimming in the pond with the dog and boy. Mop-mop loved to help in the garden finding roots to eat and making nice rows to plant flowers. The family loved mop-mop very much and liked taking her for walks around the neighborhood. When Mop-mop got too big to live in the house. The family built her a nice pen to live in with a tub on which she could take a bath. Mop-mop like this pen but missed living in the house. So one day the family decide that maybe Mop-mop would like to live with other pigs so they took her to a farm. Mop-mop wasn't to sure at first but once she got to know the other farm animals she decide this would be a good place to live. So the family was happy and sad at the same time, when they left her at the farm and went home without her.
